

I offer you this evening three apparently unconnected developments which when put together in the same newspaper column immediately assume the shape and pattern of a federal monster freshly crawled out of Joe Stalin's vodka cellar.

This octopus would feed on every last man of us. He is after the small-town press of America. He hungers for all the independent editorial plants — and their consumers. And he would destroy the small and middle-size trading towns . . . their merchants and their shoppers.

What I write about is a combination of federal law and federal court decisions, not complicated at all, but understood easily enough in three separate cases.

You might think it fantastic that a dictatorship could come about through "legal" laws and "legal" court decisions. Dictatorship, you say, means revolution, force, violence. The trouble with you is, you've been going to too many movies. Adolph Hitler became chancellor of the Republic of Germany in an absolutely free election; and he converted the republic into a dictatorship by the "legal" process of having the Reichstag or congress delegate its authority to the executive department, and then persuading the courts to uphold one law after another concentrating economic power in the national capital.

We've had a running threat of the same sort of thing in the United States ever since Mr. D. Roosevelt swapped off private debts for a public debt — but now the monster has gotten fully organized and is reaching for us.

My first citation is a federal law and a United States Supreme Court decision against newspapers. The government brought an action against the Lorain (Ohio) Journal in a quarrel between the paper and a radio station in a neighboring town. The supreme court said the Sherman anti-trust law applied to newspaper advertising, and for the first time in American history the court held that a newspaper couldn't be the judge of what advertising it would or would not accept.

Now it has been the historic policy of U. S. newspapers to reject retail advertising copy from neighboring big cities on the grounds that it would damage the newspaper's home town as a trading center. But I am informed that the Department of Justice aims to use the Lorain (Ohio) decision to tear up this ancient tradition of the small-city press.

If you think I am seeing legalistic ghosts I can silence you with three hard facts: The newspapers of Omaha, Oklahoma City, and Dallas, have just begun accepting — for the first time in their history — outside advertising in competition with their home stores. Cities their size can stand it. Smaller ones perhaps can not. And I am reminded that when Adolf Hitler moved against the private merchandising system of the Republic of Germany he struck at the big cities and the big stores first.

My second citation is a published statement of the federal electric power authorities on their policy toward local municipal light plants. I had always thought prior to this that the only thing municipal plants had to fear was the privately-owned utilities. But I have in front of me the signed statement of Douglas G. Wright, administrator of the federal Southwestern Power Administration, Tulsa, Okla., as published in the December issue of Southwest Electrical Industry magazine. He says:

"SPA (has) an obligation to examine resale rate structures of its customers, since consumers in most cases are retail customers not dealing with SPA. SPA fulfills this obligation in the case of municipalities through an agreement with the municipality as to what the retail rates shall be. This agreement is made at the time the contract for service to the municipality is executed."

Substitute the word "order" for "agreement" and you get the true sense of the above paragraph. Hope, for instance, could not touch government — generated electricity at neighboring Narrows dam without giving this federal bureaucratic veto power over our light rates, now fixed by the Hope city council. Consumers served by the private companies have their rates fixed by the state government at Little Rock — this bureaucratic would pick off as many home institutions as he could and take them clear to Washington.

I ask you if this isn't a sinister development? The taxpayers' money is spent on supposedly worthwhile public works, but somewhere along the line the bureaucrats get the law twisted around so that the public's own investment becomes a bait to lure every last local enterprise into the Washington lion's den.

My third and final citation has to do with some law-making efforts by business men themselves. Although the great body of American business men, their employees, are under constant attack by ambitious politicians, some trading lines are so foolish as to go lobbying before state and federal governments for the enactment of so-called "fair trade" laws — which are really private price-fixing schemes.

It should be obvious to all business men by this time that he who invites the "protection" of a special law is in the same category as one of Joe Stalin's small neighbors who was "protected" a few years back but whose name isn't in the atlas any more.

Americans aren't looking for "protection." What we want is to remain independent and alive.

Eight Die in Camden Wreck; State Toll 23

By The Associated Press

One of Arkansas' worst traffic accidents in history has taken the lives of eight persons. The mishap pushed the week's violent death toll to 23.

The tragic accident in which three white teenagers and five Negroes died occurred near Camden early Sunday.

Arkansas State Police said the mishap occurred when the car in which the Negroes were riding attempted to pass another auto and met the teenagers' vehicle in a head-on collision.

The victims were Tulip Rose Jones, 17, of Camden; Shirley Johnson, 19, of Cullendale, Ark.; Bernard Lucas, 19, of Banks, Ark.; Carroll Warren, Negro, of McNeil, Ark.; Sam Slaughter, 24, Negro, of Ogemaw, Ark.; and Deasie Mae Dunbar, 22, Negro, Ada Mac Haynie, 28, Negro, all of Camden. Wayne Neal, 23, of Camden, occupant of the teenager's car was injured. He is hospitalized at Camden.

An 83-year-old El Dorado Ark. man, Isom P. Freeman, died in a Morriston, Ark., hospital Sunday from injuries suffered in a Saturday traffic mishap. He, his wife and four other persons were en route to Ft. Smith when the car left the highway and overturned.

Two persons died in separate fires Sunday. A 2-year-old girl, Joan Reeves, perished in a fire at the family home near Batesville. A 20-year-old Negro, Mrs. Ruby Mae Avery, died in a blaze that destroyed three houses at Sheridan.

'Stretching' Rules Laid to Treasury Dept.

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP) — Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) today accused the Treasury Department of "stretching its rules" to let a former internal revenue commissioner represent tax-troubled clients.

A Treasury official called the contention "so m e w h a t far-fetched."

Ferguson said in an interview the Treasury "had no business whatsoever" authorizing Joseph D. Nunan, former chief of the Internal Revenue Bureau, to represent clients in tax difficulties with the government.

"I think the department was stretching its own rules when it did that and I am thinking about introducing legislation which would prevent it in the future," Ferguson said.

Treasury officials said yesterday they would welcome a move by Congress to clamp rigid restrictions on former government officials seeking to represent clients before government agencies.

In fact, a spokesman said, the Treasury urged a sweeping bar against the practice in 1936, but Congress did nothing about it.

As a result, the Treasury said in a statement, it worked up its own restrictions which "go far beyond the prohibitions imposed by Congress."

The Treasury said the only law on the subject, basically unchanged since 1873, bars a former employee for two years after leaving service from prosecuting any claim against the United States that was pending while he was with the government.

The Treasury says its own rules bar "forever" not for just two years — any former employee from acting as attorney or agent in any matter they learned about while holding a government job.

It does, however, permit them to handle cases about which they gained no knowledge while holding government jobs. This is the type of permission, granted 631 former employees, now the subject of controversy.

The issue was brought up again last week when Sen. Williams (R-Ind.) outlined to the Senate the cases of four taxpayers for whom he said Nunan got permission to serve as counsel. Williams said the

Rev. W. H. Stingley, Baptist Minister 50 Years, to Be Honored by Blevins Church

Rev. W. H. Stingley

Sunday, March 2, Victory Baptist Church of Blevins will honor the Rev. W. H. Stingley who is serving his 50th year as a Baptist minister.

The Rev. A. R. Reddin will preach sermons at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Dinner will be served on the church grounds at noon. All members or former congregations served by the Rev. Stingley, his friends and associates are invited.

During the past 50 years Mr. Stingley has held 35 pastorates — mostly in rural part-time churches. Under his guidance he has had 500 conversions, performed 450 baptisms, 582 marriages, 365 funerals and delivered approximately 7,500 messages.

For the past eight years he has been the local missionary of the Howard County Missionary Baptist Association. "During this time he has led in establishing new churches and revived many which had become inactive."

As well as religion Mr. Stingley has been active in civic affairs. He has been a Mason and a member of the Oddfellows Lodge for 45 years, serving in various stations and offices.

French Lose Key Point in Indochina

Salgon, Indochina Feb. 25 (AP) —

The French last night announced their first major retreat in North Indochina in 15 months — abandonment of the key highway center of HOA Binh and withdrawal of 20,000 soldiers into a much-shortened perimeter around Hanoi.

The French had said, after capturing HOA Binh in mid-November, they would never let Ho Chi-minh's Communist-led Vietminh guerrillas get it back.

Forty miles southwest of Hanoi, it was a key point on the Vietminh's north-south supply route.

But French commander Gen. Raoul Salan told reporters last the battle-devastated town was no longer of strategic importance — partly because the Communists had bypassed it on the west with roads over which Red China is pouring in increasing amounts of war supplies.

Along with the abandonment of HOA Binh, the French withdrew from Colonial Route No. 6, the main supply channel to the town. This cut the Hanoi defense perimeter from 500 to 395 miles.

Salan said French and Vietnamese troops were now concentrated in the Red River delta around Hanoi, and this would be held as a beachhead until they can launch a big-scale offensive.

Though he hinted this might come within three or four months, observers felt the French and Vietnamese troops now would be on the defensive in the north for some time.

Mardi Gras Likely to See Cold Weather

New Orleans, Feb. 25 (UP) — The weatherman came up with some bad news for carnival visitors today. He said Mardi Gras costumes will probably have to run to a red flannel motif.

Mardi Gras, Shrove Tuesday, is tomorrow, climaxing a mad week of carnival gaiety, glittering parades and lavish balls. Tonight the Krewe of Proteus parades by torchlight and holds court at Municipal Auditorium. Tomorrow Zulu, Rex and Comus bring carnival week to a close.

Today will be topcoat and raincoat weather for the thousands of Mardi Gras visitors jamming the city's hotels and rooming houses, the weatherman said. The forecast for today is for cloudy, with showers and turning colder. However, the weatherman said the rain will probably end before tomorrow and temperatures tomorrow are expected to be under 50 degrees.

Weather Bureau officials said the chilly winds will be pushed in by a cold front coming into Louisiana this morning from the northwest. It will probably hit New Orleans tonight.

After that, the Weather Bureau said it will be "pretty cold" for two or three days.

Negro Group Calls McMath 'Little David'

Little Rock, Feb. 25 (AP) — Members of the Arkansas Negro Democratic Association have been asked to stand firmly behind Gov. McMath.

This came from Dr. J. M. Robinson, president of the association, who yesterday called the governor "our Little David" in praising McMath's support of the Negroes. Dr. Robinson introduced the governor at a meeting and said: "It took nerve and courage for our Little David to stand up to the Negroes."

Snow Covers Large Area in Southwest

By The Associated Press

Snow in the Southwest was the most unusual aspect of the nation's weather picture today. Otherwise, it was close to a normal winter day, except, perhaps, for Fraser, Colo., where the thermometer read 30 degrees below zero.

The Southwest snow area covered eastern New Mexico, the Texas Panhandle, northwest Oklahoma and parts of Kansas.

To the east, in the remainder of Oklahoma, Arkansas, southern Missouri, and central Texas it rained. The Washington coast and the Virginia and North Carolina seaboard also got rain.

It was fair from the Great Lakes westward, with a sprinkling of sub-zero temperatures across the northern great plains, but generally cloudy in Atlantic Coast states.

Miami, Fla., basked in an early morning 65-degree temperature after the warmest Feb. 24 in 40 years of record-keeping. Yesterday's 84 was three degrees above previous highs for the date in 1913 and 1917.

MORE CASUALTIES

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP) — The defense Department today identified 54 more battle casualties in Korea in a new list (No. 508) that reported 10 killed, 38 wounded, two missing in action and four injured. It also listed four dead who were previously reported missing.

Saturday Used to Have Special Character of Its Own — What Happened to Saturday Nights?

By HAL BOYLE

New York, Feb. 25 (AP) — What ever happened to Saturday night? Saturday used to have a special character of its own all over America. Today it is just getting to be another day in the week.

A generation, or so ago, almost every town in the country was, as the saying went, "A Saturday night town."

Saturday was the working man's one day of glamour, a time when he could kick up his heels and show he was really born to be a king. It was the week's regular Mardi Gras carnival, looked forward to by everybody.

Everyone who lived in the country came in for a night on the town. The farmer unhitched his plow and hitched up his wagon. While his wife toured the store buying the best gingham and ribbons she could afford, he sat with other farmers in the courthouse square and traded crop gossip and found out who was suing whom and caused out the local banker and criticized the weather.

Then the family took in a dance or a show and clip-clopped contentedly home late at night, the kids asleep in the back of the wagon, the grownups wondering if the hired hand would show up by milking time and saying to each other, "It must be awful to live in town all week. I just couldn't stand it."

In the cities Saturday was payday. The jubilee signal was the factory closing whistle that blew at noon or one o'clock. The workman paused on the way home to wet his own whistle and get a haircut. His children could hear the happy jingle in his pockets.

The family bathtub got a real workout then, washing away the week's sweat and care, and somebody was always hanging on the door and saying, "Hurry up in there, won't you? I'm a bit . . ."

Nine Cities in Arkansas Have Snowfall Today

By The Associated Press

At least nine cities in Arkansas reported snow Monday as the entire state girded itself for a cold front moving south from the Dakotas.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock reported it was snowing at Fayetteville, Paragould, Evening Shade, Mountain View, Black Rock, Calico Rock, Gilbert, Marshall and Cotter. The Weather Bureau said, however, the snow was melting as it fell.

Fayetteville and Gilbert recorded low temperatures of 32 degrees Monday morning. Other lows included Morrilton, 35, Walnut Ridge, 35, Flippin, 34, and Batesville, 36. Rain at Ft. Smith is expected to turn into snow Monday night.

The general forecast for the state was for cloudy and colder with occasional rain, some snow in northwest and extreme north portion Tuesday.

The high in Arkansas Sunday was 8 at Arkadelphia.

Senators Hope Probe Will Save Money

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP) — Senate investigators said today they hope their current probe of overseas airbase construction will save "untold millions of dollars."

Senator Hunt (D-Wyo.) acting chairman of a Senate defense watchdog subcommittee, told a reporter he expects to reopen public hearings later this week, probably Friday.

Hunt ordered Downey Rice, committee counsel, and other investigators to dig through five different Pentagon reports, understood to be highly critical of expenditures on once-secret projects in North Africa and Greenland.

UN in Offer to Break Truce Deadlock

Munsan, Korea, Feb. 25 (AP) — U. N. truce negotiators moved to break the deadlock over selection of a neutral truce supervisory commission today by offering to withdraw their nomination of Norway if the Reds would give up Russia.

Under the Allied proposal behind-the-lines inspections during an armistice would be made by representatives of only two neutral nations for each side rather than three.

The U. N. would be represented by Switzerland and Sweden; the Communist by Czechoslovakia and Poland.

The only immediate reaction came from Chinese Col. Pu Shan who declared: "You have no justification to object to the nation's nomination by our side which are in compliance with the definition of neutral nations."

Staff officers working on prisoner exchange made no headway during a 58-minute session. Col. George W. Hickman called it a "completely fruitless" meeting.

The Communists complained that four Allied aircraft flew over the neutral Panmunjom conference site Sunday. The Reds demanded an investigation.

"It appears that your side has taken no action to restrict your aircraft," said Col. Tsai Cheng.

Col. Andrew J. Kinney told Tsai, "We note your statement. We will take it up later after we get the facts."

In addition to proposing a compromise supervisory commission plan, Allied staff officers submitted a re-phrased paragraph covering the inspection of armistice replacements during a truce.

It provided that neutral teams would be permitted to check equipment only enough "to properly insure" that it was of the same type being replaced.

The plan specifies that "this shall not be construed as authorizing inspections or examinations of any secret designs or characteristics of any combat aircraft, armored vehicles, weapons and ammunition."

The Reds, who advocate a more thorough inspection, replied only: "We have fully expressed our views on this matter."

The staff officers made no progress toward agreeing on the number of ports of entry to be checked on each side.

There was no mention in the prisoner exchange negotiations of the bloody riot at the U. N. prison camp on Kojima Island a week ago. Communist staff officers denied as "groundless and a fabrication" U. N. charges Sunday that the Reds have impressed war prisoners into the Red armies and that the committee may be holding U. N. prisoners on the Chinese mainland.

Both groups of staff officers agreed to meet again at 11 a. m. Tuesday (9 a. m. EST Monday) in Panmunjom.

Buddy Sutton Named Official of Student Group

Fayetteville, — William Howard Sutton of Hope has been elected vice president of the associated students at the University of Arkansas. He will preside over the Student Senate and will serve as ex-official member of all senate committees. A junior in the College of Business Administration at the University, Sutton is a member of the national leadership fraternity, Blue Key, and is a two-year football letterman.

Sutton formerly was junior senator from the College of Business Administration. That post was filled by Fred Philpot, Mena. Bob Lowe, second year law student from Texarkana, has been appointed law school senator.

District Catholic Youths Organize

Texarkana — Brice Street, Jr. of Camden was elected president of the Southwest Deanery of the Catholic Youth organization in an organizational meet held in Texarkana Sunday. Delegates from Camden, Hope, Hot Springs, Magnolia, Prescott, Rosston and Texarkana attended.

Tillie Ann Barrott of Rosston was elected chairman of the spiritual committee.

No Fatal Wrecks in County in January

During the month of January seven wrecks were investigated in Hempstead County by Arkansas State Police. There were no fatal accidents resulting. Fatalities in the entire state during January totaled 31.

Hope, Arkansas, Feb. 25 (AP) — Order of the Star of Hope was given by a group of 15 men.

Court Divides State Into 26 Senate Districts

Work Resumed at Bauxite Ore Plant

Bauxite, Feb. 25 (AP) — Construction of the Aluminum Ore Company's big, new $5 million dollar plant here was to be resumed today after a 6-day standstill because of a labor dispute.

About 1,200 workers have been idle since last Tuesday when members of the AFL Roofers and Water-proofs Union walked off their jobs in protest over the use of non-union employees by a sub-contractor.

Construction halted when the workers refused to cross picket lines set up by the union in protest of employment practices of the Ketcher Roofing Company of Little Rock.

Circuit Judge Ernest Maner ordered the picket lines abolished but the workers refused to return to their jobs.

A joint statement from the Ketcher Company and the union was issued Saturday stating that agreements to the labor-management dispute had been reached.

Striking AFL machinists have halted production at the big Naval Ammunition Depot at Shumaker, Ark., near Camden. The strike, which idled about 2,000 production and construction workers, is directed at alleged unfair labor practices of the National Fireworks Corporation, operator of the government installation.

At Paragould, about 60 employees of the sewing departments of the Ely & Walker company's shirt factory are on a sit down strike in protest to pay raises offered for handling rayon fabrics. This dispute began last Tuesday.

The board is composed of governor, the attorney general, the secretary of state, and the auditor. After the 1950 census, the board will have to select three new members, reducing the 34-odd to 33 and giving Pulaski three senators instead of two. This action then was at the high court by Rev. C. C. Evers, who said that the board had satisfied the demand for three Pulaski senators had affected other interests.

Jens Pickett and other of the court order the board to make its own redistricting court chose the latter action. In its opinion today the court recalled that it Jan. 21 that interested parties would be given until Feb. 21 to file objections to the board's plan. The court said that the board's plan was a "difficult task" that not one of the judges involved was qualified to handle, but it is impossible to do.

Would Delay Action to Give Morris Power

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP) — Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) said today he wants his Senate Judiciary Committee to postpone action on President Truman's "unparalleled powers" as McCarran put it, for Corruption Investigator Newbold Corrigan.

In advance of a closed meeting today to consider the matter, McCarran declared:

"I am going to recommend that we give much more extensive study to this request for authority to set up an inquisition, if you please, which could deny Congress access to important information in its own investigations."

Three Republican members of the committee — Ferguson of Michigan, Wiley of Wisconsin and Watkins of Utah — also said they favor more study of the President's request.

Mr. Truman asked that Congress empower Morris to (1) grant immunity from prosecution to witnesses and (2) issue subpoenas for persons and documents in his investigation of any wrongdoing in government.

McCarran said in an interview he would report "no sentiment at all" in the subcommittee for giving Morris authority to promise witnesses immunity from prosecution. The House Judiciary Committee already has rejected the President's request for such authority, but has taken no action on the subpoena power issue.

Morris said last week he had not asked for witness immunity authority. He added, however, that he might just as well quit if he didn't get subpoena power.

McCarran said today he would favor granting subpoena authority only if Congress provided it would have access to any material Morris obtained — a view Ferguson has said he shares.

C. V. Parker, 75 Ex-Hope Man, Dies in Arizona

C. V. Parker, aged 75, a former resident of Hope, died Saturday at his home in Phoenix, Arizona. He was connected with the Hope Drug Co. here for a number of years and was the husband of the late Lillie Parker who founded the Hope School for a number of years.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Phoenix.

Hempstead, Pike, Nevada Now Dist. 7

Little Rock, Feb. 25 (AP) — Arkansas Supreme Court today divided the state into 26 senatorial districts.

The action was taken in a set of two suits which have filed in the court asking for shuffling in accordance with population changes from 1940 to 1950.

The 26 districts decreed by the court compare with 34 now in existence and with 33 which state Board of Apportionment fixed after a previous court decision.

The 3 senators, which are by the constitution, remain unchanged. Most districts have one senator, under the new plan, but several have two, and a few have three senators.

One of the latter is Pulaski — the other is composed of Craighead, Mississippi and sett counties.

Today's order was made original action in the S. Court filed by two Sever taxpayers.

Litigation over redistricting further back, however.

An amendment to the constitution provides that after federal census a State Board of Apportionment shall redraw senatorial districts on the population.

The board is composed of governor, the attorney general, the secretary of state, and the auditor. After the 1950 census, the board will have to select three new members, reducing the 34-odd to 33 and giving Pulaski three senators instead of two. This action then was at the high court by Rev. C. The court said that the board's plan was a "difficult task" that not one of the judges involved was qualified to handle, but it is impossible to do.

The board order was filed today in the Supreme Court, ordered board to revise the district Pulaski at least three senators.

This board did so by a number of west Arkansas districts, reducing the 34-odd to 33 and giving Pulaski three senators instead of two. This action then was at the high court by Rev. C. C. Evers, who said that the board had satisfied the demand for three Pulaski senators had affected other interests.

government has collected "not one dime" in taxes or penalties in any of these cases.

Tax Fudgers Look Out for Neighbor

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—If you're fudging on your income tax return this year, better watch out for nosy neighbors.

The business of tattling to the government on income tax evaders—before a foe—is booming as never before.

The Internal Revenue Bureau reported today it paid out half a million dollars last year to informers who tipped the government to tax violators by business associates or neighbors.

As a result of the tips, revenue agents picked up $9,827,845 more in taxes for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

All signs indicate this will be an even bigger year for informers. Citizens pouring in tips on recurring revenue scandals are likely to uncover even more tax evasion.

In the past three years, payments to informers have averaged 440 million dollars a year, a tremendous increase over 100 million years ago.

For 13 years ending in 1948, payments averaged only $71,021 a year. And the $9,827,845 collected last year because of informers' tips compares with an average of only two million during that 13-year period.

A revenue official said the chief motives for informers are envy of a former boss, to cash in on informers' fees, and just plain patriotism.

The amount paid in fees can vary a lot. Some would-be informers have shot in the dark and turned in the names of known gamblers and bootleggers without any evidence. They didn't get a fee even if agents later uncovered a tax violation.

On the other hand, fees up to $50,000 have been paid for detailed and specific information leading to collection of up to two million dollars in taxes in a single case.

The smallest reward is likely to be at least $25. In one case in Alabama, an informer gave details on the location of an illicit still. He seemed unusually anxious to catch the operator.

Asked why, he replied "That's my still—the crooked so and so stole it from me, and I want him caught."

In many cases, a study of revenue files showed, the tax evaders' own boasting of his accomplishment leads to his downfall.

And then there's one case where an informer got a sizable fee but made the mistake of failing to report it on his own income tax return next year. He paid back most of the fee in penalties and interest.

Whereabouts of Malik Is Mystery

Paris Feb. 25 (AP)—The Soviet Embassy said today Russia's chief United Nations delegate Jacob Malik is still in Russia. He and his wife and son were listed as passengers on the Cunard liner Queen Mary, which docked in New York yesterday, but the Malikses weren't aboard.

Malik reportedly went to Moscow after the U. S. General Assembly ended its recent meeting here. His embassy would give no explanation of how the names might have gotten on the Queen Mary's passenger list.

The Malikses were shown on a list of persons with reservations who did not embark.

DOROTHY DIX

Philandering Husband

Dear Miss Dix: My husband and I were engaged when I was 16, but delayed marriage until he was discharged from service six years ago. We have two children. He has made me the happiest girl in the world.

Now I'm 27 and he's 29. I've always trusted him and my faith was justified until six months ago when he began running around with another woman. She is married and is cheating on her husband. My husband admits the affair but says he would never leave me or the children for this other woman. When he tries to break off with her, she chases after him. Several people know of the affair and have advised me to leave him but I can't. I could not live with out him, and for the children's sake I feel I should stay.

I keep nagging him about this woman and he's getting pretty disgusted with me and pleads with me not to argue about it; when the time comes he'll leave her. What can I do?

CONNIE

Answer: Hard as the advice is to take, there's nothing you can do except sit tight, stop nagging and continue praying for the end of this sordid affair. When your husband comes to his senses which will probably be soon, he'll be

WARM WEATHER

Miami, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Yesterday was the warmest Feb. 24 in the 40-year history of the Miami Weather Bureau.

The temperature climbed to 84 degrees between 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. That was three degrees above the previous record for the day, in 1913 and 1917.

Dear Miss Dix: The woman I love is hurt by remarks I have made, such as asking her why she makes no attempt to interest herself in the things I do pertaining to business, etc. She claims if I tell her, I'll know what will I do later on? Am I wrong to presume that a wife should be willing to share her husband's problems?

ARTHUR G.

Answer: Your fiancée is a remarkably thin-skinned woman.

marriage to her will be a continuous round of soothing hurt feelings.

You are perfectly right in wanting as a wife, a woman who will be a helpmate and companion. What she wants is to be a pampered darling with not a care in the world. Better find a girl with a little more backbone. You may think you're broken hearted now, but it's much better to be hurt before marriage than after.

Since so many people know of this affair and are so free with advice to you, doesn't anyone pass the information on to the wronged husband? When the news gets to him, he may do something to bring his wife home, though why he should want her I couldn't say.

You are well aware of the drawbacks to a separation from your husband; living without the man you love and depriving your children of a father. Since this future doesn't appeal to you, you have no recourse but to make the best of a situation until it is changed. Nagging will not achieve that change. Stop mentioning either the affair or the woman to your husband; he'll be so flustered he may forget her entirely. Focus your attention on your fine young son. In caring for your heartaches, and in prayer you have a consolation to carry you through these bitter days.

Dear Miss Dix: My boy friend comes to see me almost every night but never has anything to say. He just sits and waits for someone else to do the talking. I am 16 and he is 17.

JUNE

Answer: Since you are both in high school, he comes to see you entirely too often. Don't you both have homework and studying to do? You could use a little more attention to your schoolwork, June, so why not spend more time at it? If your friend only calls two or three times a week he'll have more

DESPITE SNOW AND GOLD, construction crews continue to lay mile after mile of Texas Eastern's new 30-inch natural gas pipeline. Here a side-boom tractor moves a 40-foot length of steel pipe into place for welders who will make it part of the long steel artery already in the ground. The new line, 791 miles long, is a major addition to the nation's natural gas pipeline system.

THROUGH HEAVY WINTER WEATHER TEXAS EASTERN WORKS TO BRING MORE GAS FOR DEFENSE NEEDS

Pipeline construction crews are combating winter weather to complete one of the nation's top-priority jobs—791 miles of natural gas pipeline extending from Mississippi to Pennsylvania. Snow, rain and mud often stop pipeline construction during winter months, but completion of Texas Eastern's new 30-inch pipeline is too important to be set aside until bad weather breaks.

Many new defense industries and thousands of new homes are contributing to an ever-expanding demand for natural gas. When the new line to Pennsylvania is complete, Texas Eastern will deliver additional quantities of gas to areas where it is an essential fuel for household uses and for making steel, aluminum, glass, electronic equipment and other materials vital to national defense.
